The term "lay ministry" has many varied doctrines governing what constitutes a lay ministry or lay minister, and describing them is not the purpose of this writing. In this writing lay ministry refers to the ministry of the body of Christ. The ministry gifts, given by Jesus to His body, as servant gifts given to the church to fulfill the commission with the head, Jesus Christ.

By the Spirit of God One was born of flesh, who was and is the Son of God and the son of Man, the seed of David – the seed given to Adam and Eve after the death of Abel. By that One man God has given us grace; the forgiveness of sin to all who believe in the name of Christ Jesus. Through Him we have received grace and the ministry gifts of apostle, prophet, evangelist, and pastor and teacher. By those gifts we are charged to spread the gospel to all of mankind, and to make disciples of all nations; all speaking the word in love.

Prodigal means wasted and none of the children of God are wasted. Some are living a wasted life. The grace of God that Jesus died to give us is wasted. Jesus is Life. In turn it is the life in Christ Jesus being wasted. The life is wasted because they do not believe they are a child of God in Christ. If you feel I am speaking to you in the third person while you are right here, I am sorry. That is the way the church has talked to you for years, and it is time to stop. You are not a "them" or "they." You are a child of God in Christ. You are not prodigal even if your life has been up to now.

My love for God originated from His love for me. My faith in God originated from His faithfulness to me. My obedience is praise and worship, and loving one another as He has commanded. God encamps around me with a host of heaven, and dresses me in a garment of salvation and a robe of His righteousness. He has made me a city without walls, and a temple without a veil. God has made me in His likeness and image with His own hands, and breathed life into me at my birth; and at my rebirth returned me to His waiting hands. Then He spoke these words to me, "How long until you attain to innocence?"

These are small pieces of my life laid out in written words. They were written over the years of my life, from the young man I was once to the older man I was becoming. They are a mixture of thought and feelings penned by one lost but found, seeking for what was already mine, confused by perception, and convinced by faith. They changed as I changed as life changed. As one outside of me looking in through the pages, you may be moved by feelings, flooded by thoughts, both, or completely indifferent. They are what they are and presented as nothing more or nothing less.

We have all been and some still are a slave to the flesh and to the sins of the flesh, "for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). The years spent as a slave, are spent serving spiritually dark taskmasters or other slaves to the darkness themselves serving the darkness. The darkness is not a physical characteristic, but one of spirit. All the while we hurt the ones we care about defending a past we cannot hope to defend on our own. All the while the light is all around us and completely available to us. We are prisoners in a prison of the mind with unlocked open doors. This writing was performed by the author as an exercise of his heart hoping that the thought may help someone else with his or her freedom through Jesus Christ from the weight of the past into a future of hope.

Only God makes a man a prophet. There are many different ideas of what a prophet is or what a prophet does, but primarily they are a messenger for God. Everyone who ministers the gospel speaks as an oracle of God, but not everyone who speaks for God speaks as a prophet. God designates one as a prophet, and uniquely prepares the Prophet for the message or messages they deliver.

It was a day like any other day and like no other day before or after. A man named Jesus was held under arrest by the religious leaders in Jerusalem. He was taken from one leader to the next in the region. He was mocked, lied about, spit on, blind folded, beaten, questioned, and sentenced to die. A man born of the power of the Most High God, who had healed the sick and set the captives free was Himself a prisoner of the greed and fear of others. He walked through the streets carrying the wood that would be His death bed. He was so beaten that He needed help to make it all the way to the top of Golgotha. As a dying declaration He said, "Forgive them," and "It is finished."

With Jesus I no longer question why God loves me or how He could love someone that made all the mistakes I have made. Seeing the extreme that Jesus was willing to go for me, I know that God is proud of Him and loves Him. With Jesus firmly in my heart, I know God loves me – Jesus has consumed me and it is He that lives – it is He that God loves. Then I realize that God sent Jesus because He loved me first, before Jesus came – to die for me – to dwell in my heart. Now I can see how much God loves me. Earth's Son is a collection of writings by Tim D. Coulter Sr. written over a 20 year period.

If we love everyone then nobody is special. No! Everyone is special. Maybe you have a special thing, but everyone does. Maybe you found a niche group that appreciates the way you're special. Great! But that is not a reason to think less of other people. It is so easy to get caught up in what we are doing so much that we make it too important, and give it too much weight when interacting with others. No matter what one achieves, if one has not love what have they done? There is always someone inside everyone to love – someone who needs love – someone who desires to be loved.

Believers often refer to their walk of faith as a journey. We refer to roads traveled and roads we did not travel. Some of our relationships we refer to as people who crossed our path. Some of that may have to do with the travels of the Biblical character we call the prodigal son. In the tale, the son left his father's home and travel wasting everything his father gave him. When the man fell on hard times he remembered his father's home and how he would fare better there as a servant. The parable was the journey away and the return, and the father receiving him back as a son and not a servant. The journey is a common theme used to talk about a believer's relationship with God.

Who or what someone else believes Jesus to be is not the testimony of your salvation. Popular opinion does not determine who He is, was, and will be. The being of Christ Jesus was determined before the existence of humanity. We do not lean on our own understanding, but we do not lean on the understanding of popular belief either. The Anointed I Am teaches and we choose to believe. "But the anointing which you have received from Him abides in you, and you do not need that anyone teach you; but as the same anointing teaches you concerning all things, and is true, and is not a lie, and just as it has taught you, you will abide in Him" (1 John 2:27).

God brought the fullness of God to bring about creation. The Spirit hooved over the nothingness, emptiness, and darkness. God summoned the Light. What happened next was not different from the beginning, but was the beginning when God created the physical existence. God spoke and the breath and the voice of God brought things into existence in the Light. In the evening, the darkness returned for the evening and the morning was the day.

"Indeed, the darkness shall not hide from You, but the night shines as the day; the darkness and the light are both alike to You" (Psalm 139:12).

The message we have had from the beginning is that we should love one another. What wonderful love the Father aligns in us, that we should be called children of the Most High. We do not know what we will be, but we know that God created us to be in the same likeness and image as God. When we see the Father, we will see that we are like the Father. Our hope in God purifies us, as God is pure. We know love because God in Christ laid down His life for us.
